About Andreas

After many years of experience in trade and import/export, Andreas Roos pursued his true passion to move more «to the front» in marketing & sales, with successful practice also in online marketing.

At Moneyhouse, he specifically added customer consulting and sales, by phone and in person, in the B2B area. Putting himself mentally on the side of the customer in communication, so that the needs of the partner are properly understood, have always created mutually appreciative relationships for Andreas.
